AWAITING NEWS

U. S. Destroyer and U-Boat in Fight Off the Atlantic Coast.

NAVY SEEKING BASE

Floating Supply Ship May Be Aiding German Submarines.
—Strict Watch Kept.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The navy department still awaited today a detailed report of the encounter between an American destroyer and one of the German submarines off the Atlantic coast. The destroyer was still at sea, as far as known, and the commander of the naval district to which the vessel is attached has transmitted no additional information.

The fact that the enemy craft are able to "listen in" on radio conversations hampers communication of the details of the location either of the pursuing craft or of the raiders and commanders of naval vessels and of the naval district are using the utmost caution in the messages they transmit. The fact that the papers of all vessels sunk by the raiders have been taken, shows that the boats are seeking information in every possible quarter.

Aside from the effort to locate and destroy the raiders themselves, the navy is using every means to determine whether the submarines have a floating base of supplies. The progress of the raiders south from the war trade and transport routes might mean that they are moving to a previously fixed rendezvous with a supply ship.

A suggestion has been made that a steamship out of some Mexican port flying an American flag may be serving as a base but the navy has no definite information on this. Every vessel in coastal or nearby waters is being overhauled and investigated by anti-submarine patrols.

Speculation as to the use of a floating base brought up again the peculiar circumstances surrounding the sinking of at least two vessels. In each case seamen said that while one submarine held them up and forced them to take to their boats, a second lay some distance off with only its periscope showing.

It may be that the second was such a vessel as the commercial submarine Deutschland, loaded with extra fuel and stores.

M'ADOO URGED TO CHANGE RATES

New Rates Threaten Many Shippers and Industries With Commercial Annihilation.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Postponement of the new freight and passenger rates, or modification to remove injustices and discriminations which threaten many shippers and industries with "commercial annihilation," was urged upon Director-General McAdoo by a member of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners. Mr. McAdoo was asked either to make state commissions his agents in bringing about necessary readjustments in rates or to require readjustments by state commissions before government operation started in matters of rate and police regulations.

CLOSING TO BE ON EACH SATURDAY

The offices of the county court house, with the exception of the sheriff's office, will close during the three months of summer at 1 p. m. on Saturday only, instead of each day of the week as was erroneously announced recently. There will be a clerk in each office, however, on Saturday afternoon so that necessary business may be transacted, as the state law does not allow county offices to close entirely.

County Clerk C. M. Ramey announced this morning that the offices would close on Saturday at 1 p. m. during June, July and August anyway, but that plans had not been made for closing during any other months.

PERSHING REPORT OF PATROL FIGHT

Forty Americans Whip Eighty Boches and Inflict Severe Losses.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The story of how an American patrol of forty men, outnumbered two to one, held its ground in Lorraine on the night of June 2 for three-quarters of an hour and only retired when its ammunition became exhausted is told in a continuation of General Pershing's communique of yesterday received here today. The patrol inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Lieutenants Campbell and Meisner downed an enemy biplane, June 5, the communique said. Between April 14 and May 31, it said, Lieutenant Douglas Campbell shot down six planes. The communique follows:

"Section B—On the morning of the 25th Lieutenant Campbell and Meisner forced down an enemy airplane east of Pont-a-Mousson.

"Between April 14 and May 31 Lieutenant Douglas Campbell brought down six hostile airplanes of which destruction has been confirmed. During the same time Captain Peterson and Lieutenant Rickenbacher each brought down three of which destruction has been confirmed and forced down two more concerning which confirmation has been requested.

"During the night of June 2 to June 3 one of our patrols operating in Lorraine and consisting of about 40 men encountered a hostile patrol of double its size drawn up in skirmish formation along a line parallel to that of our own patrol. Both patrols opened fire with rifles, pistols, grenades and automatic rifles and each tried to flank the other. Our patrol, in spite of being greatly outnumbered, held its ground for three-quarters of an hour, inflicted losses on the enemy and retired only when its ammunition was almost exhausted. Our casualties were very light.

"During the night of June 4 to June 5 one of our patrols operating in Lorraine penetrated the enemy's positions and advanced behind his second line trenches. It inflicted on the enemy losses in killed and wounded and withdrew successfully under cover of a barrage from our Stokes mortars."

PLAN TO DEFEND
ATLANTIC COAST

Congress Asked to Appropriate Funds for Sixteen Balloon and Airplane Stations.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A sixteen million dollar appropriation for establishing sixteen balloon and airplane stations to guard the United States against submarine and air attacks was asked of congress today by the war department.

The department desires to establish sixteen stations, thirteen of them on the Atlantic coast and three on the Gulf coast. Definite locations were not given.

The coast defense plan, as submitted by the department calls for the establishment of fortifications along the coasts by which guns could be transported on railroads from one point to another to meet possible attacks.

The house appropriations committee, to whom the request was made, is informed that there are in operation a sufficient number of aircraft to defend the coasts adequately, but that the stations are needed. Any possible airplane attacks that could be made would probably come from collapsible balloons carried by submarines.

Operation of observation balloons would be largely for signal purposes.

HOME GUARDS
QUELL UPRISING

Creek Indians Promise Not to Make Any More Trouble and Disperse.

HENRIETTA, Okla., June 6.—Fear of a possible uprising among Indians and negroes and those of mixed Indian and African blood in the Old Hickory stamping grounds, was dispelled early today when the Henrietta company of home guards, led by Lieut. Ray Wise, returned here with word that the malcontents had promised to disperse their bands and would not attempt any trouble.

SAMMIES DECORATE
STEEL HELMETS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, June 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—When the American troops were entering the line at Veully in Poterie where they fought such a gallant battle, they decorated their steel helmets with poppies from the fields, according to details of the fight given by French soldiers. An American officer told his French comrades that his battalion would not yield an inch of ground and it did not.

"We will do anything France wants," was the declaration of the soldiers going into battle.

SICK AND WOUNDED
RETURN TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—During the week ending May 31, 184 sick and wounded soldiers of the American expeditionary forces were landed in this country. For the week ending May 24 sixteen arrived. The soldiers have been sent to various army hospitals.

Y. M. C. A. UNITS
DO GREAT WORK

Americans Play Prominent Parts in Retreats East and West of Soissons.

PARIS, June 6.—American men and women attached to the Y. M. C. A. units with the French army played prominent parts in the retreat east and west of Soissons. Carl Lytle of North Brookfield, Mass., is believed to have sacrificed his life. Lytle is officially reported missing. Amid a rain of gas shells he went into a certain burning village to rescue refugees after the troops had come out and has not been seen since.

Y. M. C. A. workers stayed with the troops during the rear guard fighting, gathering and distributing supplies. Women workers particularly distinguished themselves. Miss Maria Heron of New York, a sister-in-law of former President Taft, remained in a hut serving food and coffee to the soldiers until the village was set on fire by German shells.

Several Y. M. C. A. men are suffering from gas poisoning and shell shock.

BRITISH SLACKERS
UNDER ARREST

LONDON, May 16.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—In an effort to avoid military service, Arthur and William Webb, brothers, spent every day of the last two years in a back room in their home. This fact became known recently at Enfield, a suburb of London, when the two were arrested.

TAX REMITTANCES
BY COUNTY BOARD

O. M. Sanderson, county assessor, has prepared the following notice on tax remittances by the board of equalization which will be sent out to the taxpayers:

"In order that there be mutual understanding in the matter of certain remittances of taxes by the county commissioners, we again desire to give out this information, that all who are worthy and entitled to this remittance as indicated by the law will receive the same if they write or send in their valuation papers, or if they wish may call at the assessor's office any day of the meeting of the board and furnish proper evidence.

"There may be some misunderstanding regarding the meaning of the letter previously sent out, all widows or other dependent persons who have no more than $2500 worth of property will receive the remittance, if they send in their statements, or are properly represented. Ministers and bishops who are interested in the people of their communities, please see to it that none who should receive attention in this matter be overlooked.

"There is still three or four days left to take up this question as indicated on the bottom of the notice.

"Where persons male or female have no earning capacity or other means of support and yet own a little property then can consistently claim the privilege given under this clause of the law."

A STRONG ARGUMENT.
"You are sewing on Sunday."
"Yes," replied the energetic woman.
"For soldiers. I understand that the Prussians don't quit fighting on Sunday."

He probably gets his meteorological and military maps mixed up once in a while and thinks it's up to him to throw a heavy rain barrage into a dry spot he sees sticking out.

Theatres GREAT INTEREST IN
'HER UNBORN CHILD'

Much local interest is already shown in the play, "Her Unborn Child," which comes to the Orpheum Saturday night from the Salt Lake theatre, where the attraction has won the highest criticism and is filling the large auditorium to capacity at every performance.

At the matinee there yesterday the morning papers of that city state that fully 2000 women were turned away, and that the theatre was packed to its utmost capacity. The Monday matinee—and the only one given in Ogden—will be for ladies only, at which time Mrs. Clarence Bennett will deliver her famous ten-minute talk on "Motherhood."

"The tragedy of the baby that wasn't wanted" is really the basis of the play, the theme of which is birth control and social abuses.

Here is a drama of discussion written by a brilliant young newspaper and magazine writer, Howard McKent Barnes, which it is promised will find an honored place among purposeful plays like "The Blindness of Vice." To the latter play, the work of an English author, is accorded the credit of advancing the theatre as an educational institution more than any other drama ever produced.

With a theme fully as potent, the author of "Her Unborn Child" has sought to solve a big modern problem. Medical societies, women's clubs, educators, sociologists, the daily press—all are to be fore in discussion, pro and con, of birth control, a topic which is so prominently before the people just now.

With medical organizations grappling with the problem, women's clubs debating it and municipal authorities looking up statutes applying to it, it is not surprising that the playwrights have taken hold of the question.

Few plays in recent years have created the furor accorded "Her Unborn Child," yet critics and reviewers state it is handled intelligently and delicately—but vigorously.

"To call a spade a spade has on occasion awakened a person, a community or a nation, but by so doing it has brought about sincere thought and study of that particular subject, the natural tendency and final result is an accomplished good," writes the author to the press in reply to a criticism.

The company to appear at the Orpheum was especially organized to play the principal cities of the country, and the cast embraces names well known in the theatrical profession.

Popular prices will prevail for this attraction, yet it is promised the merit of the offering will compare favorably with those exacting a much greater scale of admission.—Advertisement.

GOOD ATTRACTIONS AT ALHAMBRA

There are few better comedians in motion pictures than Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, whose latest comedy, "Moonshine," will be seen at the Alhambra theatre today. In this amusing picture, Mr. Arbuckle is seen as a revenue officer who is sent with an assistant to the Blue Ridge mountains to wipe out a band of moonshiners. It is the broadest of broad burlesque and all who have seen Mr. Arbuckle in his previous comedies, will be sure to find this comedy fully up to the standard.

James Cruze (James Bozen of Ogden), who plays the part of Simp Calloway, the outlaw, in "Believe Me, Xantippe," the latest Paramount release starring Wallace Reid with Ann Little, is considered one of the best character men in the pictures. He is so amazingly clever in makeup, that the other actors do not always recognize him when he first appears in a new role.

MARGERY WILSON AT THE COZY

The besetting sin of the day, a great many will admit, is extravagance. Very often it is fostered in the hearts and blood of the children by the parents. Ultimately, the penalty of misdisposition and thoughtless materialism is paid. It must be paid. In the case of Gwendolyn Alcott the penalty was avoided only by a providential interference of a wise, far-seeing father-in-law. Harvey Martin, Sr. is the type of man who bends the world to his will. When he finds his son yielding to the evil forces of society he is not a loss as to what should be done. He pits both his son and daughter-in-law against Nature and the sons of Nature. For the first time the shams, lies, varnish, softness and silk of life are stripped from the lives of both. Dashed against the rocks of humiliation by the breakers of jealousy, bitterly disillusioned as to his superiority, and face to face with his own shortcomings, Martin, Jr. takes full inventory of himself and wife and settles his problem with naked fists. Margery Wilson plays the lead in this picture, "Old Loves for New," which is being shown at the Cozy theatre today and tomorrow, and is supported by Lee Hill, Lee Phelps, Pete Morrison, Geo. Pearce, Irene Hunt and others.

CHICAGO CHIEF OF POLICE IS DYING

CHICAGO, June 6.—Herman F. Schuetter, chief of the Chicago police department and one of the best known police officials in the country, lost consciousness today after many months of illness. Physicians do not expect him to recover. He has been connected with the Chicago police department for more than thirty years.

WEBER COUNTY HAS BIG CROP OF WEEDS

The Weber county farm bureau addressed a petition to Mayor T. Samuel Browning asking the city to co-operate with the farm bureau and the C. E. Pettigrew, crop pest inspector, to combat the crop pest evils of the county, there being also much fruit and a large total area of vegetable crops close to or within the city limits.

The petition follows:
"Pursuant to a motion passed at special meeting of the weed committee of the Weber county farm bureau representing every section of the county and approved by County Agricultural Agent W. P. Thomas and County Crop Pest Inspector C. E. Pettigrew, we desire to file with your honorable body the following statement and petition for your consideration:

"Investigations by our weed committee and the two officials named have brought out the fact that the weed situation in Weber county and Ogden city is serious, particularly along the canals, ditches, highways and vacant lots and must have immediate attention if irreparable damage to crops this year is to be prevented. With regard to the vacant lots, we believe that the owners who will not put this land into food crops, should be forced to keep them clear of the burdock and other noxious weeds which infest these lots in many districts of the city.

"During the past three years, weed eradication campaigns have been waged in the county with much success and, although the city campaign in 1917 was started somewhat late, excellent results were accomplished. These campaigns have been much appreciated by the farmers of Weber county and requests have come to this organization from every affiliated local bureau—every town in the county—that an effort be made to have them continued this year. This, with a view to eventually overcoming the weed evil in a degree as may be permanently possible. The results desired cannot be accomplished without the consistent co-operation of the city and county, and immediate attention.

"We therefore petition your honorable body at this time to inaugurate a special campaign in connection with a similar one to be waged by the county authorities, to eradicate noxious weeds in the city, putting into force your legal authority for so doing. This should also be done as a health measure, for as you know, weed patches are prolific breeding places for flies, mosquitoes, gnats and other insect pests.

"In the proposed campaign, should your honorable body act favorably on this petition, you may be assured of the hearty co-operation of this organization, the county agricultural agent and the county crop pest inspector, both in an advisory and active capacity, at any and all times, to make it a success."

GEO. W. BRUERTON
GOES TO GRANITE

George W. Bruerton, for eight years manual training instructor at the high school and later manual training supervisor of the city schools, will sever his connections with the local city school system this spring and will go to Granite to fill a similar position with the Granite school system. Mr. Bruerton, during the past few months, has been especially active in adapting the vocational work of the schools to the needs of the Red Cross and arranged and managed, with the assistance and co-operation of the school superintendent, a Red Cross sale which netted the organization several hundred dollars.

In Granite Mr. Bruerton will work under the superintendency of John M. Mills, former school superintendent in Ogden. Mr. Bruerton is a native of England and received his education in that country. He was acknowledged as one of the best vocational training instructors in the state.
